Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

Two pictures arrived in this office last week for publication in the Nugget. They were not published because we believed them misleading. The pictures were of Governor Olson who accompanied President Roosevelt for a few miles during his tour of California war plants. The pictures were of course taken with Governor Olson well in the foreground with the caption reading: "Olson and Roosevelt inspecting defense plants." But the president was not really assisting Governor Olson to inspect California war industries. Olson went along for the ride and —the photographs. The governor knows his onions and we in California know the governor. Moreover the president, on his return to Washington said how nice it was to have taken this trip without talking politics with anyone, so the association was just social, nothing more. The president's words give the lie to the message the photograph was intended to deliver to voters and to the press.

However, to consolidate his position, as the generals sa nowadays, Olson on last Thursday evening talked about "the president's trip with me." This was not flattering to the president, because the governor is taking a trip whence no man returns to office. The political outer darkness is closing about him and the president is not one to share in that. All these photographs and utterances of the "me und Gott" order are merely delusions of grandeur, of which we had a sample when Olson from Chicago long-distanced Lieutenant-Governor Patterson and asked him to resign so that he, Olson, could take the nomination of vice-president to the United States. The good thought behind that far telephone cry was that Olson did not want to resign for the bigger job and make Patterson governor of California. We say "good thought" because we think it was, at any rate from the people's standpoint. No man sick of the smallpox would wish to be exposed to whooping cough.

Now comes George Creel, Democrat and politician, who had charge of propaganda during the last war, and writes to Earl Warren from New York that his vote will go to swell Warren's majority in November. He writes:

"That your majority will be overwhelming is a certainty. For your record compels the support of every citizen with proper regard for his state and his country. Even were it not backed up by your specific pledges, your record guarantees an honest and efficient administration that will lift public service high above partisanship, cheap politics and personal ambition. It is equally a guarantee of the team-play—the needed cooperation between the executive and legislative branches—that will put California's full strength behind the armed effort of the nation.

"There is still another consideration that moves me as it must move all who give any thought to the future. Now that America's mighty war machine is hitting on every cylinder, the defeat of the evil Axis Powers is in sight. The readjustments of peace are bound to present many difficulties, and nothing is more imperative than that these post-war problems he handled by a man of proved ability,' and what is every bit as important by a man of proved judgment.

"I may add that your decision to run as a non-partisan, pledged to an absolutely non-political administration, confirms my high opinion of your patriotsim and good sense. As President Roosevelt himself has made clear, both in public statements and by the inclusion of two Republicans in his cabinet, "politics as usual" should and must be adjourned until victory stands assured."

Nevada County Married Men Without Children Are Slated For Army Induction During November

The Nevada County Selective Service Board announces that processing of married men, without dependent children, will begin next week. These men will be inducted into the army during November. Under recent enactment of Congress the wives of such men will receive an allotment of $22 minimum from the pay of their husbands in the army, to which the government contributes $28, a total of $50.

This announcement means that the board has exhausted its files of single men and of men in Group 1, Classification 3 A, whose dependents consist of collateral relatives, such as mothers, fathers, sisters, or brothers. While it is true that deferments in these two catergories still exist, such deferments are due to special circumstances in individual cases involving undue hardship or vocations vital to war work. Many men with collateral dependents have been inducted, since their dependents may now receive allotments for support often equal to, and sometimes in excess of the amounts registrants have contributed from their private employment.

Under the Selective Service regulations, children are defined as the offspring of marriage or as legally adopted. Foster children and stepchildren do not occupy the same status in so far as the Selective Service law is concerned. For instance a man who has married a widow with children but has no children of his own living in the same home with him, will be classified as in Group 2, of Class 3A, the same as that of a man who is married but is without children. In states in which common law marriages are legal, as in Nevada, children born of such unions have the same status as those born in wedlock. The father of such children registered in any other state, such as California w,here such unions are not legally recognized will still be classified in Group 3, Classification 1 A, which defers him from military service along with legally married registrants until such time as all men in this class are called. If this relationship began in California, his status however will be the same as that of a single man. It should be borne in mind, however, that the Selective Service board can exercise considerable discretion when induction involves unusual hardship.

During November the local board's quota of inductees has been set at more than 200 men. This is the highest for any one month since the Selective Service system was inaugurated. Approximately 750 men from Nevada County have been iducted in the armed forces, or have enlisted, in the two years in which the system has now been in operation.

RUSTED PISTOL TELLS OF EARLY DAY TRAGEDY

Mute evidence of a human tragedy was found by Leslie (Slim) Land a day of two ago on Robinson's Flat on the old Emigrant trail 29 miles east of Forest Hill. At this point about 10 feet off the trail and at an elevation of 7,000 feet, Land discovered a circular barricade of small boulders. Lying almost in the center of this circle was the barrel and mechanism of a heavy cap and ball pistol. The wooden stock had rotted away. The iron barrel was corroded with rust, but measurements revealed the gun was still loaded. The barrel is 8 1-2 inches long and about 44 caliber.

Land believes that whoever erected that barricade of boulders died there sometime in the early Fifities when the Emigrant trail was in use. Somebody killed him before he was able to fire. For in those days when all travelers went armed, no man would have abandoned his arms. The spot apparently had never been visited and stands on a little eminence without vegetation on a cemented gravel formation. Land states there are still stretches of the old trail which have never yet been explored.

The pistol is on display in the Nugget window.

RED CROSS UNIT GIVES FURNITURE TO CAMP BEALE

The local Camp and Hospital Service unit of the American Red Cross held its first meeting last evening and started the ball rolling to assist in furnishing Day and Recreation rooms at Camp Beale. Many articles of furniture and musical instruments have already been donated by the following: Mrs. George Calanan, Mrs. Oscar Odegaard, Dorothy Wagoner, Mrs. Tonelli, Joe Day, Mrs. B. J. Gallagher and a pool table by George Legg.

The Women's Christian Service Association have already taken on the furnishing of one of the day rooms. Any other club or organization may undertake to furnish a room completely or may offer to make only curtains. Following are some of the desired articles for use in the rooms: card tables, end tables, chairs, chesterfields, pictures, desks, lamps, games, magazines, books, magazine racks, smoke stands, ping pong tables p,ool tables, etc.

Since it is the responsibility of the communities adjacent to Camp Beale to see that a minimum of comfort is maintained in the day rooms for the service men, it is hoped that Nevada City, as usual, will do their part in putting this project over. Anyone wishing to donate articles, telephone the following: Elsie De Mattei at 212W; Mrs. Paul Kemper at 533, Lambert Thomas 129, Miss Ruth Hogan at 33; Emmett Gallagher 503, Si Sofge 575. It is planned that the committee will be enlarged within the next few days at which time further announcements will be made.

FARMERS ASKED TO REGISTER THEIR TRUCKS

Every Nevada County farmer who operates a truck or drives a "pick-up" has a job to do this week if he expects to continue operation of the vehicle after November 15.

That job is to file his application for an Office of Defense Transportation "certificate of war necessity."

Sleeman, acting chairman of the farm transportation committee of the count USDA war board, said a corps of workers has been trained to assist farmers and other truckers engaged in the hauling of farm goods to complete the ODT application forms during a three day registration period October 22, 23 and 24.

Registration headquarters have been established in Grass Valley at the NID office, and will be open Thursday, Friday and Saturday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m.

Sleeman explained that the owner of every registered commercial vehicle supposedly has been mailed an application from ODT headquarters in Detroit M,ich. In the event such application was not received, the truck operator may obtain a request for an application at the registration headquarters.

NO CANNING SUGAR AFTER SATURDAY, RATION BOARD SAYS

No canning sugar after October 24th.

That was the word from the local sugar rationing headquarters today.

And it was also pointed out Stamp No. 8 expires on October 31st, Stamp No. 9, good for three pounds per person, is not good after December 15.

Institutional and industrial users of sugar are given a higher percentage during that period.

PAYDAY HOURS DISCONTINUED

H. A. Curnow, manager of the branch of Bank of America here, announces due to the recent federal order closing gold mines, the local bank will no longer maintain extra hours on payday afternoons but will close at 3 p. m. as regularly.

The order also applies to the Grass Valley bank. The order is effective tomorrow.

ENLISTEES MAY CHOOSE BRANCH OF SERVICE

Capt. Chandler Sprague, officer in charge of public relations at Camp Beale, states that enlistees 18 and 19 years of age will be permitted to choose the branch of the service in which they wish to serve. The following are some of the branches now open to those who wish to make a choice: infantry, cavalry, coast or field artillery, engineers, signal corps, air force, armored force, and just recently new divisions have been opened for selection of enlistees 18 and 19. These are quartermaster corps, ordnance, chemical corps, medical corp, and military police.

Of especial interest to local enlistees is the fact many of them will be permitted to take their training in Camp Beale if they so desire.

WIFE AND BROTHER TO CARRY ON ROBERT TAMBLYN BUSINESS

Patrons of Tamblyn's Insurance Agency here yesterday received letters from the proprietor, Robert Tamblyn, notifying them that on September 21st he was sworn into the United States Air Corps as an Aviation Cadet and is awaiting a call into the service. This call should come within the next few months.

"This letter is being written to the patrons of Tamblyn's Insurance Agency," Bob states, "to inform them that while I am away from Nevada City in the armed forces, the office will be capably run by my wife, Ruth and my brother, William Tamblyn, both of whom are licensed insurance agents."

Another cheery letter has been received by local friends from Fred Garrison who is now a sergeant at Camp McQuade. He also sent a copy of his newspaper which he is editing for the camp. It is full of camp news and makes a fine appearance.

Mrs. Lulu Coleman of Alleghany is visiting at the home of her nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jacobs of Park Avenue.

Caught in the Riffles

Those most bitter because of the closing of the gold mines to enable the miners to be absorbed in essential war mineral properties where they are vitally needed may feel differently after reading the following verse written by an unknown soldier in the Philippines before the end came:

And if our lines should form and break
Because of things you failed to make;
The extra tank or ship or plane
For which we waited all in vain,
And the supplies that never came.
Will you then come and take the blame?
For WE, not You, will pay the cost
Of battle. YOU, not WE, have lost!

Twenty additional Nevada County men are in the Army. They passed their final physical examinations in Sacramento yesterday. They have returned to their homes for two weeks furlough before entering training.

They are:

Louis H. Breckenridge, who is deputy assessor of Nevada County, Raymond P. Dowd, employed by the Hooper-Weaver Mortuary firm, Ernest H. Marks, Walter S. Hanson, Francis M. Heintze, Charles G. Brown, Howard V. Garner, Ray B. Wilde, Nevada City mail carrier, Mathew C. Grigg, Archie H. Ramsey, cook for the State Division of Forestry fire fighting crew, Richard O. James, who has been employed as a truck driver by the forest service, Roy L. Michael, Herbert M. Lewis, John L. Lute, William W. Kilroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elza Kilroy of Nevada City, Robert J. Brown, Stephen A. Little, Jr., Jack M. Aragon, Matt O. Eckola and Jack W. Hortshorn.

Earl C. Sanders, who prior to his enlisted in the Army in May was assistant manager of the Golden Rule Store in Grass Valley, has been promoted from first lieutenant to captain in the military police. Sanders, a veteran of the First World War, was active in legionnaire circles in Nevada County.

He is attached to a military police battalion at Camp Knight, Oakland.

This is the way J. K. Osborne, Nevada Counpty ration and price control coordinator, dictated a personal about his visit in San Francisco:

"J. K. Osborne has returned from San Francisco, where he caught H— from the OPA. George Calanan, chairman of the Nevada City rationing board, met a similar fate when he met with the OPA officials two days previously.

What a difference a hyphen makes! The following notice appeared in an exchange recently:

"The ladies of the Sewing Society have cast off clothing. They may be seen at the society rooms this week.

"Don't crowd, boys!"

John Cicogni fell in the bath room of his home on Spring Street early Wednesday morning and fractured his left hip. He was removed to the Miners Hospital where he is resting as well as can be expected. He is one of Nevada City's older residents.

THE ONLY ISSUE

(The San Francisco News)

As we listened to President Roosevelt's fireside chat of Monday evening we were impressed by the similarity of attitude and purpose metween it and Atty. Gen. Earl Warren's opening statement at The News-KYA forum Sunday evening.

In almost every word the president emphasized the need for complete preoccupation of the people of America with the war. Nothing else matters. Nothing that tends to disunite the people can be tolerated. Politics is adiourned. Partisanship has no place in the picture. America must act, must prepare, must fight as one great united force against the enemy on every front.

Mr. Warren has couched his campaign for governor on that same high plane. Although he is a Republican, he has pledged to support President Roosevelt in every phase of the nation's war effort. He is asking the people of California to regard the governorship in this great emergency as strictly a nonpartisan office and his candidacy as an appeal to all the people of the state, regardless of party affiliations.

The News believes Mr. Warren is entirely sincere in this attitude and that Governor Olson does him an injustice by accusing him of political trickery in his stand.

Mr. Warren's hope and his promise is to put California, with all its rich resources, into the war fully. To our shame and our regret this has not been done to date by the Olson administration. As the spearhead of the nation in the Pacific war theatre California should have been far out in front from the very first. Instead of putting the state in that position Governor Olson fell into a partisan row with the legislature over the State Guard and has since refused to call a special session to repair the damage that was done then.

We believe the governor must give a more satisfactory answer than he has to date for his failure to assert his leadership. The state's civilian defense is in deplorable shape largely because he has refused to convene a special session to pass legislation to make it more effective.

For almost a year our country has been at war. For two years previously we were preparing for war. At no time in that period has Governor Olson risen adequately to the demands of leadership such a crisis imposed upon the chief executive of the state. In this campaign we must judge him upon his record. It does not reveal him as a great and inspiring leader of all the people.

Mr. Warren, on the other hand, has, by the high, patriotic and nonpartisan character of his campaign, indicated the quality of leadership we may expect from him. He has hitched his wagon to the star of victory in the war, regardless of politics, regardless of petty factionalism, regardless of the fortunes of the Republican or any other party.

We believe the record-breaking vote he received from both parties in the primary election was proof that he is expressing the ideals, the convictions and the hopes of all the people of California.

And it is upon this basis we believe he is entitled to be elected as the wartime governor of California.

NAVY CAN USE MINE ENGINEERS

The Navy is making an urgent plea for civil, architectural and sanitary engineers with actual experience in construction to serve as commissioned officers in the Naval Reserve.

The recent government closure order, affecting the gold mining industry of the western states, has left many competent construction engineers without jobs, at least temporarily. The Navy is asking those men to investigate the possibilities offered in its service. Qualified engineers with good backgrounds of experience will be given ranks up to Lieutenant Commander and they will be in vital positions engaged in new construction throughout the far-flung network of the Navy's new shore installations.

Men with actual experience in construction of dams, bridges, water and sewage disposal systems, storehouses, cantonments, quay walls or various other installations connected with establishment of naval bases, are asked to apply for this service. Design engineers and architects are not needed by the Navy at the present time.

Those with engineering degrees who have a construction background and want to serve their country in the uniform of a naval officer are asked to come to the Office of Naval Officer Procurement, 703 Market Street, San Francisco, or to write to that address for information.

NEWS IN RHYME

By Harley M. Leete Jr.

Civilians face many an unpleasant thing,
During the stormy course of war,
We face them that our sons may ring,
Freedom's bell for evermore.

No one likes the rubber ration,
Nor the gasoline ration to be,
Nor the ration of meat for all our nation—
Not any one of these three.

The transportation problem's tough,
And gets no better fast,
And the way of non-war business, rough,
And many, of course, won't last.

And the hardships now are merely a drop,
In the bucket, to what are due,
For each month seems to bring a crop,
Of edicts harsh and new.

Taken by itself, civilian life,
Is not a life of ease,
But compare it with rule 'neath Hitler's knife—
Then forget all luxurious pleas.

A little thing given up today—
Some gas or a rubber tire.
May deal a blow at Hitler's sway;
Help set his forts afire.

Discomfort's thorn may be out part,
In the coming days of war,
But we should be of cheerful heart,
And little things ignore.

Our lot's not hard, if just compared,
With Americans who fight,
Mid hardships, yet have ne'er dispaired,
Of the cause of Truth and Right.

In deserts, jungles, on mountain tops,
In fiercest heat and cold,
Fair Freedom's battle never stops—
It's an epic, brave and bold.

So—at home, we'll do our best—
Our discomfort's very slight,
Our great armed forces will do the rest,
To win this all-out fight.

LANDSLIDE FOR WARREN LIKELY

By CLEM WHITAKER

A landslide victory for Earl Warren in the governorship race on November 3, which many political forecasters now believe is in the making, may bring with it the election of brilliant, hard-hitting Fred Houser, Alhambra assemblyman, as Lieutenant Governor and a possible surprise win by Wallace Ware, former member of the State Railroad Commission, as Attorney General.

With the general election contest sweeping toward the final showdown without any indication that Governor Olson can overcome the smashing 2-to-1 defeat which he suffered at the primary, the betting commissioners in San Francisco and Los Angeles are offering even money that Warren will win by 350,000.

In some political quarters, despite warnings against over-confidence from the Warren headquarters, estimates of Warren's majority range as high as 750,000, and there is a noticeable lack of Olson money in the betting marts.

Assemblyman Houser, although his campaign was interrupted by the death of his father, Supreme Court Justice Frederick W. Houser, has been making steady headway against Lieutenant Governor Ellis E. Patterson since the primary, and a landslide Warren victory over Olson might well have the efect of clinching victory for Houser as well.

Wallace Ware, while conceded to have a tougher fight than Houser, is rated as one of the most effective campaigners in California and has been pouring it on his opponent. Senator Robert W. Kenny, during the final stage of the Attorne Generalship battle. Kenny is still the favorite in the betting, but Ware can't be counted out at this point. In this instance, too, a Warren landslide might be the determining factor.

The governorship race is also expected to have a decided impact on legaslative contests throughout the state. In Merced and Madera counties, for example, where former Lieut. Gov. George J. Hatfield is running for the senate on a pledge to support Warren's war and civilian defense program, he is opposed by Elmer B. Maze, an Olson partisan. Hatfield due to his own popularity in the district, where he is engaged in farming, and due to the fact that Merced and Madera counties went overwhelmingly for Warren at the primary, is figured to win this fight.

Likewise, Senator Arthur H. Breed Jr., of Oakland, who is in a hot race with Patrick W. McDonough for the Alameda County senatorial seat, will undoubtedly benefit if there is a Warren landslide. Somewhat the same situation exists in Santa Clara County, where Byrl R. Salsman is expected to win out in his senatorial fight with M. G. DelMutolo. The only other contest for a state senate seat is in San Diego County where Senator Ed Fletcher will probably benefit in his contest with Charles Calhoun Dail, if that county goes heavily for Warren.

As nearly as can be gauged at this writing, the voters seem to be in a mood to make a clean sweep of it and get rid of all out-and-out Olson supporters.

Former Omega Miner Receives Training As Army Airplane Engine Mechanic

Private William O. Ploof, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Snyder of Alameda, was among the graduates of the Army Air Forces Technical Training Detachment course in Airplane Engine Mechanics, given at Southwestern Institute of Technology at Westerford, Oklahoma.

Prior to his enlistment in the Army, Ploof was connected with the Omega Mining Company as a miner. He attended the Cedro Wooley High School in Cedro Wooley, Washington.

Graduation exercises climaxed 15 weeks of intensive study. They were held at Milam Stadium, before an audience of over 500 people. A military review was held in honor of the graduating class, prior to the presentation of diplomas by Captain Robert C. Steuhany, Commanding Officer of the Detachment. President G. S. Sanders of Southwestern Tech made a brief address and congratulated the students.

"You keey buyin' 'em, and we'll keep 'em flying," was the message the graduating class sent to the folks back home.

SPEED A TANK to the fighting front!

Telephone calls play a vital part in building tanks, guns, ships, planes. They help to move millions of men to the fighting fronts. War is on the wires. There must be no blocking of these war calls.

We cannot build new lines to carry them because copper, nickel and rubber are shooting, not talking, materials right now.

What we can do is to make the most of what we have. You can help by making Long Distance calls only when they are really necessary. And on these, please be as brief as you can.

The call you save today may speed a plane or a tank to the fighting front.

Your co-operation is deeply appreciated.

ARMY RECRUITING EXPERT SKIERS

The Army wants well qualified skiers and mountain men now, for assignment to the Mountain Forces, and through the National Ski Patrol System has asked the Auburn Ski Club to recommend as many recruits as possible.

The War Department wants physically fit skiers, or men who have lived and worked in the mountains, trappers, prospectors, packers, guides, horsemen, and mountain sportsmen with extensive outdoor mountain experience for immediate assignment to the 87th Mountain Infantry Regiment.

The regiment is now stationed at Fort Lewis while completing summer training in the mountains of the Northwest, and will soon be moved to Camp Hale, the new mountain forces winter training center just completed at Panda Valley in the Rocky Mountains near Leadville, Colorado, to complete the training of the force in winter mountaineering.

Much has been written of the 87th Mountain Regiment in Life and Time magazines. They are completely equipped for mountain service at all seasons of the year, using horses and mules extensively in summer, and skis and motor sleds in winter. It is exceptionally heavy in the firepower of automatic weapons, artillery and motor pack equipment.

During the past year several men have already obtained assignment to the 87th Mountain Regiment through the help of the Auburn Ski Club. Included are Harry Rosenberry, John Robie, and Eddie Aro of Auburn; Al Hanson, Newcastle; Red Mosher, sports writer of the Sacramento Union; and Roy Mikkelsen, now in officers' training for the 87th.

Full information and applications for enlistment can be obtained in Auburn from Wendell Robie, by all who desire to volunteer for this selected force of the army. Men can enlist whether or not of draft age, and the applications and questionnaires covering their qualifications are not handled through draft boards, but cleared by the National Ski Patrol System directly, with the Adjutant General of the army.

PENSIONERS BACK WARREN'S OLD AGE PLAN

Candidate Given Credit For Liberalization of Present State Pension Allowance

Says Pension Is a "Matter of Right," Earned During Productive Years

"Earl Warren, candidate for Governor, has done more in a few months to secure for California pensioners a liberal interpretation of regulations affecting 'outside income' than any other person."

"He should be elected Governor, and thousands of California's 'Elder Citizens' are going to see that he is elected." . . . "In every city and town in the State old people are among his chief supporters, and are earnestly working to place him at the head of the State government."

These are the statements of hundreds of Pension recipients who declare that it was largely through Earl Warren's offorts that the California regulations on earnings allowed pensioners were liberalized.

"There has been too much politics and not enough action," Warren says, adding:

"I believe in an old age pension as a matter of right—as something we earn in our productive years by our contributions to the upbuilding of the community. If I am elected Governor of California, I shall see that that principle is embodied in our pension laws."

MOVE OUT FOR WAR WORKERS IS PROPOSED PLAN

BERKELEY, Oct. 22.—With the housing situation in war production communities becoming more acute daily, it is apparent that the best answer to the problem lies in the voluntary withdrawal of families not tied by business or family reasons to less congested areas.

This is the opinion of Warren C. Perry, professor of architecture at the University of California, who is the chairman of the Northern Housing Sub-committee of the State Council of Defense.

"War industries report an increasing turnover of labor, particularly among married men, because of the inability to obtain housing," Professor Perry noted. "In view of the gravity of the situation, it does not seem too much to ask families who could move without undue hardship to do so.

"Because of the shortage of strategic materials, existing housing facilities must be used to the maximum. Many war workers are still traveling 50 miles or more each way between home and factory, and surveys indicate that by November of this year 35.66 per cent of their automobiles will be off the road because of lack of tires, and by November of 1943, 85.50 per cent will be useless."

He pointed to Santa Cruz as an example of a town which, with no essential industries to draw men, had faced a surplus of 1600 houses within and without the corporate limits. After posting announcements on Army and Navy bulletin boards and advertising in state newspapers, however, the housing space was cut down by one-third and town officials are now wondering if they will have enough room.

REGISTRATION HITS NEW PEAK IN CALIFORNIA

By TOM M. BRIGHT

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 22.—(UP)—California had the greatest registration in history when 3,820,776 voters qualified for the Nov. 3 general election, although the figure announced by Secretary of State Paul Peek showed a gain of only 69,480 over the August primary.

The Democrats maintained their substantial margin over Republicans with a total of 2,300,206, as compared with 1,370,069, representing a gain of 47,305 Democrats over August and 17,062 Republicans.

The November, 1938 registration of 3,454,058 was 366,718 under the new total.

Peek said the minor parties were as follows: Townsend, 8,689; Prohibition, 5,389; Communist, 631; miscellaneous, 7,423, and declined to state, 128,369.

From where I sit . . .

by Joe Marsh

DON'T ever argue with Grandma Hoskins about American history unless you know what you're talking about. Because when Grandma states a fact, it really is a fact.

The other day we got to talking about George Washington — who besides being a great general, was a public surveyor, a successful farmer and a wise statesman.

"And he made mighty good beer, too," says Grandma.

That was news to most of us.

"You can see his private recipe for beer right in the New York Public Library," Grandma Hoskins tells us. "In his own handwriting, at that."

And then she opened up on how Washington and those others who founded America believed in beer and moderation. Told us about William Penn who had his own brewery down in Pennsylvania, and Israel Putnam . . . Samuel Adams of Massachusetts and James Oglethorpe of Georgia.

"Beer," Grandma goes on, "has grown up with the country because it's a symbol of good fellowship and moderation."

Way back in 1789, she told us, James Madison stood up in the House of Representatives and made the motion urging "the manufacture of beer in every State of the Union." And that same year Massachusetts passed an act stating that "the wholesome qualities of malt liquors greatly recommend them to general use."

From there on — until early in 1918, the brewing industry kept growing and beer and ale kept getting better and better.

Then came prohibition . . . thirteen dark years that bred vice and crime. Grandma says it taught us something though — something that George Washington and all those other early American statesmen knew all along . . . that no law ever takes the place of self-restraint and moderation.

That's why they were friends of beer and made moderation a cornerstone of American freedom. They were right about a lot of things — Washington and Adams and Penn. And from where I sit, they certainly were right about moderation, too.

It takes 12,000 telephone calls to build a bomber!

And it takes a lot of calls to build ships, tanks, guns . . . to move millions of men and the supplies they need.

With vital telephone materials drafted for the duration, additional lines cannot be built at this time. But war calls must go through. So will you, please:

Ask yourself, every time you are about to make a long distance call, is this call necessary?

And when you do call, please be brief.

Your assistance, and your understanding of the magnitude and importance of our task in keeping the telephone lines clear for war calls, are deeply appreciated. Your help makes it possible for us to be of maximum service to our Nation.

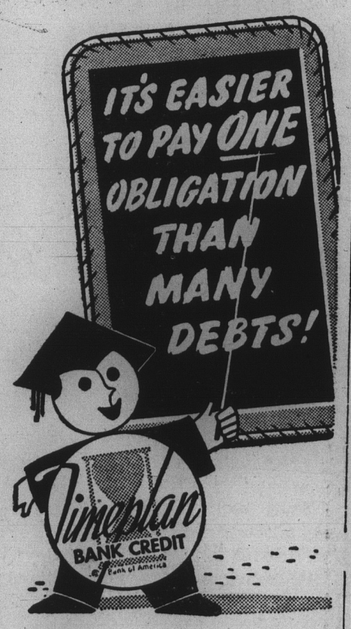
Millions of Californians have learned this simple lesson:



The Government wants everyone to get out of debt. A good way to accomplish this is to consolidate all your debts into a single obligation—into a low-cost Timeplan loan which you can repay monthly.

A Timeplan personal or auto loan can be arranged quickly at any branch of Bank of America. The minute your application is approved you receive the money. There are no deductions. Three million Timeplan loans have been made to satisfied borrowers.

Mining Men To Meet in November

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—A Metal Mine War conference will be held at Salt Lake City, Utah, on November 16 and 17, the American Mining Congress today announced. The conference, held under the auspices of the Mining Congress' Western Division, will bring together mine operators of the west and key officials of the war agencies responsible for metal and mineral production.

Problems of the mining industry in meeting the unprecedented wartime demands for essential metals will be considered at the two day meeting. These will include the shortage of manpower for the mines, which constitutes a serious threat to war production; metal prices, quotas, and premium payments to stimulate production of copper, lead and zinc; priorities on mining machinery and supplies; problems of strategic minerals production, government financing and many others.
